

Larson & Darby Group - Municipal

2009 AIA Northern Illinois Chapter Outstanding Firm of the Year

Dixon Public Safety Building - Dixon, Illinois

Larson & Darby Group has been providing award winning architectural and engineering design services for municipal clients since the firm's inception in 1963. From complex public safety and high security criminal detention facilities to village halls, municipal water reclamation and water treatment plants to libraries, airports, and museums, Larson & Darby Group has experience designing a diverse range of municipal projects. Teamwork is the foundation for our approach. We will work with you to define the goals and establish the appropriate scope, schedule and budget for your project. Our goal is to provide you with a building that is not only inspiring, but that also is fiscally responsible, technologically sound and functionally responsive to your communities needs.
